

Displaying Edited Records after Saving

Problem Summary	When I saved an edited record, it disappeared from the display of records.
Error Message	No message
Possible Cause	If you edit a record so that one of its fields no longer matches the filter selected in the Select filter data box, and then save that record, it will disappear from the list of displayed records. This happens because the save function not only saves the data in the database but also refreshes the open window to display the current database data according to the current filter selections.
Recommended Action	To see the updated record, select the appropriate filters, and click Retrieve .
Release	Release 7.5(1) and 8.0
Associated CDETS #	None.