

Contents

- 1 Channel Interface Processor \(CIP\)
 - ◆ 1.1 Definition
 - ◆ 1.2 Details
 - ◆ 1.3 Related Resource

Channel Interface Processor (CIP)

Definition

The Channel Interface Processor (CIP) is a channel attachment interface for Cisco 7000 series routers.

Details

The CIP is used to connect a host mainframe to a control unit, thereby eliminating the need for a front-end processor (FEP) for channel attachment.

Related Resource

Cisco Trademarks