

DSPU concentration

Definition

Cisco IOS feature that enables a router to function as a physical unit concentrator for Systems Network Architecture (SNA) physical unit 2 nodes. Physical unit concentration at the router simplifies the task of physical unit definition at the upstream host while providing additional flexibility and mobility for downstream physical unit devices.

Related Resource

Cisco Trademarks