

Error message about java not being a recognized command when running deployApp.bat

Problem Summary	Error message is displayed when attempting to run deploy.bat to deploy an application
Error Message	'java' is not recognized as an internal or external command, operable program or batch file. Press any key to continue
Possible Cause	The application is a CallServices application instead of a VXMLServer application. An application is a CallServices application if it was created in Call Studio with a "Deploy Version" set to "Call Services 6.0".
Recommended Action	CallServices application cannot be run on VXMLServer. You may optionally change the CallServices application to a VXMLServer application using Call Studio.
Release	VXMLServer 8.0(1)
